Richard Wolters Prize 2024 – Procedure

Introduction

The procedure for award of the Richard Wolters Prize has been modified with the objective of attracting more young members of the engineering geology community to the IAEG and strengthening links between engineering geologists in industry and academia. Changes include a lowering of the maximum age of applicants to 35 on 1 January of the year of award.

Background

The Richard Wolters Prize has been awarded biannually since 1986 to commemorate the life and work of Dr. Richard Wolters, his significant achievements in the advancement of engineering geology and his important role in the development of the IAEG.

Procedure for Richard Wolters Prize Candidates for 2024

The Richard Wolters Prize for 2024 will be administered in the following way:

1. Selection and nomination by each IAEG National/Regional Group of their favored candidate to contest the Richard Wolters Prize. The nominated engineering geologist must meet the age criteria . The nominating National/Regional Group must submit for evaluation a copy of the nominee's curriculum vitae; a list of publications (identifying the three most important papers); and a statement of support for the nominee which should not be longer than two single spaced typed A4 pages. The statement of support must include confirmation that the candidate will attend the contest of Richard Wolters Prize.
2. Nominations by the National/Regional Groups of their candidate for the Richard Wolters Prize must be in an official letter with all documentation including identification of the paper to be presented if they are shortlisted, to the IAEG Secretary General by 15 June 2024. Where the candidate is from a country whose National/Regional Group is not active, then self-nomination to the IAEG Vice President representing their part of the world can be made.
3. If the number of nominations exceeds 10, then the Executive Committee of the IAEG will, before 15 July 2024, make its selection of the 10 short-listed candidates.
4. The National/Regional Groups will be informed one month before if their nominee is invited to attend the contest.
5. Submissions will be judged as follows: submitted publication 30 %; CV 10 %; Oral presentation 60 %.
6. Presentations will be made by candidates . Allowance for presentations including response to questions is anticipated to be 15 minutes (10 minutes presentation and 5 minutes mandatory question session), but this may be extended according to the number of short-listed candidates and programme.
7. Selection of the winner of the Richard Wolters Prize and runner-up will be made by a jury appointed by the IAEG Executive Committee.
